

This architectural floor plan depicts a large, symmetrical building complex, possibly a school or institutional building. The plan is oriented with North (N) at the top. The central feature is a large courtyard (2) with a circular area in the middle. The building is divided into several wings and rooms, each labeled with a number. The plan includes detailed dimensions for rooms and corridors, as well as structural elements like walls, doors, and windows. The layout is highly organized, with a central corridor system connecting the various rooms. The plan also shows a central staircase and a large hall (1) on the left side. The overall design is functional and efficient, with a clear flow of movement throughout the building.
